DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

The amendment filed on 12/4/09 has been considered.

Claims 1-3, 6-9, 11-12 and 18 are pending.

Response to Arguments

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-3, 6-9, 11-12 and 18 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Marcato et al Infection and Immunity vol. 70 p. 1279 (3/2002), in view of LaCasse et al Blood vol. 88 p. 1561 (1995) Strockbine et al J. Bacteriology vol. 170 p. 1116 (3/98), Accession Number 2002:397002 (3/2002), Green US 2002/0081307 and applicant's admission on page 6, lines 1-2 of the specification. The reasons for this rejection are of record in the paper mailed 9/9/09.

Applicant argues that the Marcato et al reference teaches the use of Stx2 B but not Stx1 B and cites a line on page 1279. This line states that the results are more potent in Stx2 B than Stx1 B. This means that the effects in Stx1 B are still seen just not as potent. Furthermore, on page 1285 first full paragraph, the reference cites work by Nakagawa et al and says that "the results suggested that the Stx1 B subunit must enter the cytoplasm of a eukaryotic cell to induce apoptosis". The following sentence describes the work done in the reference and says that "the data in our experiments allow us to come to a similar conclusion..." Thus the data in the reference is concluding that Stx1B induce apoptosis.

Applicant argues that none of the other cure the deficiencies of Marcato et al. As discussed above, there are no deficiencies in the primary reference.

New Grounds of Rejection

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-3, 6-9, 11-12 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are now directed to StxB1 B subunit. This terminology is unclear because the specification refers to Stx1B. Are " StxB1 B subunit" and "Stx1B" the same or different? If they are the same then applicant should use the same terminology in the claim as in the specification.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
